

QUERIDA GOES TO WASHINGTON D.C.

The AKC Government Relations National Legislative Conference

By the AKC Government Relations Department

On June 23-24, some 50 AKC Club Legislative Liaisons, state federation leaders, and canine advocates from as far as California, Maine, Colorado, and Florida met in the nation's capital to participate in the AKC Government Relations National Legislative Conference.

The conference was specially designed to empower attendees with tools, resources, and information to share with their club members to help them become more effective advocates for dogs in their own states and communities. The conference also encouraged attendees to network, learn from each other's experiences and share ideas. "AKC legislative conferences are a great and unique opportunity for participants from across the country to come together, learn new information, share ideas, and network with others who, like them, are fighting every day in their local communities on behalf of their dogs, breeding programs, and our sport," said Sheila Goffe, Vice President, AKC Government Relations.

The first day of the conference took place at the Sheraton Suites hotel in Alexandria, Virginia, and featured a full day of networking and educational activities.
